WHY FOCUS ON FATHERS?

Father absence can contribute to many problems during a child's development and later in life. Conversely, a father's loving participation is proven to improve many outcomes for children.

Children in fatherless homes are more likely to:

- drop out of school
- have discipline problems
- be incarcerated
- run away from home
- have kids of their own during adolescence
- experience homelessness
- experience problems with depression
- engage in violent behaviors
- experience addiction
- attempt suicide

Kids with actively involved dads are more likely to:

- have stronger verbal skills
- have fewer behavior problems in school
- get better grades
- show an increase in curiosity
- show increased problem-solving skills

STRONG SCHOOLS BELONGS IN YOUR SCHOOL!

By expressly targeting dads, Strong Schools sends the clear message that father involvement is imperative to a child's education. We know that encouraging fathers to be more engaged in education benefits parents, students, teachers and the whole community.

We designed Strong Schools to strengthen parent involvement in education while considering barriers that families, schools and communities may face. The classes feature low-tech, highly interactive activities accessible to everyone.
